Policy context

We have revised our approach to appraisal and replaced the WBT methodology in order to boost staff engagement and support the delivery of our strategic objectives by adopting our refreshed values and behavioural profile. Our values-based appraisal supports the delivery of Trust strategic objectives by embedding our values and behavioural profile. We are committed to developing all staff to ensure that we have a compassionate, highly motivated and professional workforce.

Policy requirement (see Section 2)

The appraisal discussion is focused on the health and wellbeing of the individual and the actions that can be taken to support wellbeing. All BSMHFT employees should have regular reviews to help them develop, improve and understand what needs to be achieved and what is expected of them, these reviews will be captured using the forms available via the ESR portal. The Trust will recognise and value what gets done (the achievement of objectives) and how it is done (the behaviours exhibited in line with the behavioural profile).

1: INTRODUCTION

1.1 Rationale (Why)

Our new approach to appraisal is intended to support our staff to develop and contribute to the Trust's strategy to the best of their ability. We are committed to developing all staff to ensure that we have a highly motivated and professionally engaged workforce. To support this, the Trust has in place an appraisal and review system that is clearly linked to our values and behaviours and the strategic objectives of People, Sustainability, Quality and Clinical Services:

To ensure that all staff, wherever they work in the Trust, have a clear understanding of their role, how they contribute to the delivery and improvement of services and an understanding of their own development needs to achieve this, we have provided a framework to review and support individual staff. The appraisal process provides the opportunity for staff to demonstrate progress on the essential objectives set during the previous year and also consider objectives in the coming year. By raising and maintaining the performance of everyone in the trust we can ensure that:

- Our vision is delivered and that our service users experience continuous improvements.
- Our staff are able to perform their current role to the best of their ability, develop their career potential and work individually and within teams in safer and more effective ways.
- Our staff feel that they are using their skills and expertise fully and effectively. This will promote a more engaged workforce and an inclusive culture.

1.2 Scope

This policy applies to all staff in the Trust, with the exception of doctors who are covered by separate job planning and revalidation processes. The principles of job planning and revalidation are fully consistent with this policy.

Bank staff and individuals employed on fixed term contracts are not covered by this policy.

The content of this policy is based on the key contractual elements of the terms and conditions of the Agenda for Change agreement and therefore this policy is compulsory and all employees who are employed under the Agenda for Change agreement must follow this policy.

The Trust is committed to ensuring this policy and its associated procedural documents are applied fairly and consistently to all employees.

Managers should refer to the Trust's Sickness Absence and Attendance Policy for any matters relating to health and wellbeing which are raised as part of the appraisal process.

1.3 Principles (Beliefs)

Our philosophy guides what we aspire to achieve in the development and appraisal of our staff. Everyone should understand what needs to be achieved to meet our service users' expectations and to support the Trust strategy. To this end:

- There will be regular feedback for employees in relation to their performance, with managers engaging in coaching approaches to maximise staff engagement
- Everyone will know what is expected of them via the Trust's Behavioural profile
- Everyone is encouraged to realise their full potential through Personal Development Planning. This supports the development of a learning culture through support for continued personal and professional development by undertaking lifelong learning activities
- Individual performance will normally be improved through praise for a job well done, constructive and timely feedback and by the setting of clear, challenging but achievable objectives and access to planned development opportunities.

2: POLICY (What)

The principles of our policy

Our staff wellbeing is important

The appraisal discussion is focused on the health and wellbeing of the individual and the actions that can be taken to support wellbeing.

There will be regular feedback and coaching conversations

All BSMHFT employees should have regular reviews (no less frequently than every six weeks). This feedback will ensure that all individuals have feedback and coaching conversations to help them develop and improve. The outcomes of these reviews will be captured using the 1:1 forms, which are available on the Trust's web page and via the ESR portal.

We value what people achieve

The Trust will recognise and value what gets done (the achievement of objectives) and how it is done (the behaviours exhibited in line with the behavioural profile).

Everyone should understand what needs to be achieved

All BSMHFT people should know what the Trust's key priorities are for delivering mental health services. The Trust's vision and key priorities will be discussed during the annual appraisal and objectives will be expected to link to these strategic priorities.

Everyone will know what is expected of them

All BSMHFT employees should be clear about what expected performance and behaviours looks like for their job and should be supported to meet those expectations. Employees will be expected to deliver against their job description; they may also be set objectives that will represent specific work-related objectives that need to be achieved in the coming 12 months. Appraisal is an ongoing process and the annual meeting is a summative meeting supported by the principle of no surprises on both sides.

Individual's work objectives will be agreed

The appraisal is an opportunity for staff and their managers to jointly discuss and reflect on the success and achievement of the past year and to explore any reason why some work targets or objectives have not yet been achieved. It ensures that staff and their managers have time to discuss and determine what work based and other learning opportunities would support the individual to successfully achieve their objectives and career aspirations, leading to an individually tailored personal development plan for all employees.

Any additional objectives will be agreed with the individual and these should reflect the Trust and team objectives. They should be stretching but achievable. They will be measurable and individuals should be clear on success criteria for meeting objectives by adopting the SMART methodology.

3: PROCEDURE

The performance management cycle

3.1. Annual appraisal

All employees will have an annual appraisal with their line manager (or delegate). New starters will have a one-to-one with their line manager within the first month of employment to discuss and agree objectives and will have their first full appraisal no longer than 3 months later. The Trust will support the time needed for reviewers and staff to invest in ensuring the effectiveness and recognition of the importance of all aspects of the appraisal process.

All reviewers will be expected to be competent in undertaking appraisals and to be responsible for participating in any update training or learning activity required to develop or maintain their competence. All reviewers will be supported in and given the opportunity to develop the knowledge and skills that they need to successfully manage the performance of their staff via the Core Leadership Programme. All staff have access to support documents and resources to guide them through the new appraisal process so that they can maximise the benefit of undertaking their appraisal. All staff are expected to take an active role in the appraisal process, including preparing for the discussion, working towards agreed objectives and implementing their personal development plan. In the revised appraisal process staff are expected to take the lead and prepare thoroughly before the appraisal discussion takes place.

It supports the principle of equity and equality of access to appropriate learning and development opportunities regardless of pay band, full or part time status, hours of work, gender, age, sexual orientation, ethnicity, disability or religious or spiritual beliefs. This appraisal will be completed using the Trust's appraisal forms (ESR).

The annual appraisal and development review will:

- Encourage a discussion about their health and wellbeing and agree an action plan
- Capture what staff would like to discuss during their appraisal and enable them to reflect upon their contribution over the previous 12 months
- Measure how employees are performing against the job role and identify talent and potential for further advancement and specific development
- Assess any development needs and requirements
- Set objectives in line with the organisational priorities
- Measure achievement against objectives
- Measure achievement against the Trust's values and behavioural profile
- Capture what personal development they have undertaken in the previous 12 months and confirm what development needs individuals have in order to reach their peak performance
- Record current professional competencies required by their job role
- Allow the staff member to provide their manager with feedback on the type of management support that would help them to maximise their contribution to the team

3.2. One-to-One Review

All employees will have regular meetings with their line manager. This regular meeting should be no less frequent than once every 6 weeks and will be carried out by using the Trust's 1:1 form (see appendices). The regular supervision meeting (1:1) will be evidenced based and will:

- Review how employees are performing against the job role (including discussing examples of actual pieces of work)
- Identify any support, development or intervention needs required to assist the employee in achieving the requirements of the job
- Review how employees are achieving against their objectives
- Review how employees are demonstrating the Trust values and achieving against the behavioural profile
- Explore their career pathway and development aspirations
- Check fundamental training is up-to-date and discuss the staff member's health and wellbeing

The 1:1 supervision meeting would normally be conducted separately to clinical supervision or caseload review however these 3 elements could be combined into one meeting if appropriate and when agreed with the employee being supervised. It is envisaged that this conversation will take 30 mins.

3.3. Recognition

Employees will be recognised by their managers and feel valued for delivering quality services that deliver our Trust vision of improving mental health wellbeing and consistently demonstrating our values: compassionate, inclusive and committed.

3.4. Performance that falls below an accepted standard

In circumstances where, despite management support, employees are performing below the expected requirement for the job and there is clear evidence to question their capability to do the job then employees will, after careful review, be referred to the capability process outlined below.

3.5. The Capability Process – Performance

Poor performance is defined as an employee who consistently fails to achieve the required standard, usually because their performance is unacceptable, objectives are not met or competencies are not demonstrated.

Standards for work are laid out both in the job description for the role and also as part of the annual appraisal and development review process with the line manager.

Employees who consistently fail to achieve the required standard will have their capability reviewed under the capability process.

For professional staff groups covered by separate fitness to practice policies, advice should be sought as to whether performance concerns sustained over a period of time should be dealt with under those policies or the capability process below.

Formal stage

If performance concerns have been raised at a minimum of two management supervision meetings and managers can evidence attempts to address performance informally, then the formal stage of the capability process will begin.

The employee will be invited to attend a formal meeting chaired by a senior manager and supported by a human resources officer. The meeting will be conducted in line with the process for conducting disciplinary hearings and include a right to representation.

The penalties that may be awarded include:

- No formal action to be taken.
- Notice to improve: A formal notice to improve is issued which will contain details of the performance problem, the improvement that is required and the timescale for achieving this improvement (this should be between one and three months).

If following a notice to improve an employee's performance does not improve to the required standard within the timeframe stipulated, then the employee will move to the final stage of the process.

Final formal stage

The employee will be invited to attend a formal hearing chaired by a manager with the authority to dismiss. The hearing will be conducted in line with the process for conducting disciplinary hearings and include a right to representation.

The outcomes of the meeting may include:

- No action to be taken.
- Dismissal (on the grounds of capability).
- Panel recommendation: The panel may make a recommendation that is short of dismissal, such as downgrading, or issue a further notice to improve.

Pay Progression

Pay progression is directly impacted by capability and performance, see the Pay Progression policy for details.

Appeals

Employees have a right of appeal against dismissal or downgrading. If an employee wishes to lodge an appeal they should do so by following the appeals process, a copy of which can be found on the Trust web page.

4: RESPONSIBILITIES

We all need to be clear on what expected practice is and what our roles in achieving that are.

All Staff will be expected to take responsibility to achieve the requirements of their job by:

- Creating their appraisal form within ESR and preparing for their appraisal meeting

5: DEVELOPMENT AND CONSULTATION PROCESS

In accordance with the National Agenda for Change agreement, each member of staff employed under Agenda for Change terms and conditions must have an annual appraisal and ideally, one interim review within that year, which is optional but recommended. The initial appraisal should normally take place within the first three months of employment and will be an opportunity to agree work priorities, ensure understanding of the new starter's role within the team and organisation, identify relevant personal development and discuss health and wellbeing. A full appraisal should take place 12 months later.

Where an individual does not agree with the outcome of their appraisal they can appeal in writing to their reviewer's manager.

The appraisal meeting process will normally follow the format outlined in the appraisal guidance documents available on the Trust's intranet.

The policy and documentation has been developed following extensive consultation with staff, managers, medics and Trade Union partners across the organisation. A broad range of staff have been fully involved in:

- Setting the design criteria for the policy and documents
- Designing the documents
- Agreeing the policy content
- Piloting the documents

After 18 months the forms will be revised to take into account any feedback from managers and staff.

Does this proposal promote equality of opportunity? Eliminate discrimination? Eliminate harassment? Eliminate victimisation?		Promote good community relations? Promote positive attitudes towards disabled people? Consider more favourable treatment of disabled people? Promote involvement and consultation? Protect and promote human rights?
Please click in the relevant impact box or leave blank if you feel there is no particular impact.
Personal Protected Characteristic	No/Minimum Impact	Negative Impact	Positive Impact	Please list details or evidence of why there might be a positive, negative or no impact on protected characteristics.
Age		x		As part of the Equality Act – Age is a protected characteristic and is collated through our recruitment process. It is possible that the policy will have a small impact on age discrimination despite the policies intention that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of their age. It is possible that staff will engage less with the appraisal process as they approach retirement,

				staff may not see the importance of the process as they prepare to leave the organisation. The responsible manager should make every effort to engage with all staff irrespective of their age. Staff may also experience reduced access to development as they approach retirement age, the policy does not support this and all staff should have equal access to development irrespective of their age.
Including children and people over 65 Is it easy for someone of any age to find out about your service or access your proposal? Are you able to justify the legal or lawful reasons when your service excludes certain age groups
Disability		x		WDES Data is showing 4.7% colleagues across our Trust have long-term condition or illness. Currently we have the Disability and Neuro Diversity Staff Network Group who currently support staff with disability. We also support staff with Reasonable adjustment with the Government 'Access to Work' Grant. The policy supports and promotes the fair and equitable access to appraisal and development for all staff, irrespective of their disability. However, the process of completing an appraisal is embedded within ESR and this may pose accessibility issues to staff that have difficulties accessing computers, utilising computer screens or standard keyboards, and/or reading/writing. Every effort needs to be made by the manager and the Trust to support staff appropriately and to make reasonable adjustments to enable access to the appraisal process, this is dependent on the individual feeling comfortable about being open about their disability especially where this may be a hidden disability or mental health issues.
Including those with physical or sensory impairments, those with learning disabilities and those with mental health issues Do you currently monitor who has a disability so that you know how well your service is being used by people with a disability? Are you making reasonable adjustment to meet the needs of the staff, service users, carers and families?
Gender	x			Currently gender is collated and there is a disparity around gender pay gap overall with an increase from 6.99% to 11.17%. It is anticipated that gender will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of their gender identity.
This can include male and female or someone who has completed the gender reassignment process from one sex to another Do you have flexible working arrangements for either sex?

Is it easier for either men or women to access your proposal?
Marriage or Civil Partnerships	x			Although this is a protected characteristic, this is not recorded. It is anticipated that marriage or civil partnership will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of their marriage or civil partnership. This is dependent on staff feeling comfortable about being open about their Marriage or Civil Partnership
People who are in a Civil Partnerships must be treated equally to married couples on a wide range of legal matters Are the documents and information provided for your service reflecting the appropriate terminology for marriage and civil partnerships?
Pregnancy or Maternity	x			Although this is a protected characteristic, this is not recorded. It is anticipated that pregnancy and maternity will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable, and consistent manner irrespective of this. However, the Trust will provide necessary support and reasonable adjustment for an employee who is pregnant or on maternity, paternity or adoption leave and this may be pausing the appraisal and development process temporarily. This is dependent on staff feeling comfortable about being open about their or their partners pregnancy, including miscarriage. The Trust has started Women's Network, these matters can be discussed and shared there. Managers should ensure that staff access to appraisal and development opportunities are not negatively impacted due to pregnancy or maternity and that appropriate communication is maintained during those times as described in the relevant policy.
This includes women having a baby and women just after they have had a baby Does your service accommodate the needs of expectant and post-natal mothers both as staff and service users? Can your service treat staff and patients with dignity and respect in relation to pregnancy and maternity?
Race or Ethnicity			x	Our WRES Data shows that our black and minority ethnic workforce representation is 37% and in 2021 we showed a small increase on the 35% reported in 2020. There are current workstreams underway highlighting the disparities and the EDI teams are working with specific areas. It is anticipated that Race or Ethnicity will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of this. This is also dependent on staff feeling comfortable about being open about their heritage or refugee status. It is anticipated that the change to the appraisal form will encourage open conversations and provide an additional route for staff to raise their concerns about unfair and discriminatory practise.

Including Gypsy or Roma people, Irish people, those of mixed heritage, asylum seekers and refugees What training does staff have to respond to the cultural needs of different ethnic groups? What arrangements are in place to communicate with people who do not have English as a first language?
Religion or Belief	x			Although this is a protected characteristic, we have some recorded data and this is subject to staff sharing this with the Trust. The Trust will provide necessary support and reasonable adjustment for an employee and we also have the Spiritual Care Team. It is anticipated that religion or belief will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of this. This is also dependent on staff feeling comfortable about being open about their religion or belief. We have flexible working policies in place to support staff if they require.
Including humanists and non-believers Is there easy access to a prayer or quiet room to your service delivery area? When organising events – Do you take necessary steps to make sure that spiritual requirements are met?
Sexual Orientation			x	Although this is a protected characteristic we have some recorded data, this is subject to staff sharing this information. We currently have LGBTQ Staff Network who meet regularly where information is shared. It is anticipated that sexual orientation will not have a negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of this. It is anticipated that the change to the appraisal form will encourage open conversations and provide an additional route for staff to raise their concerns about unfair and discriminatory practise.
Including gay men, lesbians and bisexual people Does your service use visual images that could be people from any background or are the images mainly heterosexual couples?

Does staff in your workplace feel comfortable about being 'out' or would office culture make them feel this might not be a good idea?
Transgender or Gender Reassignment			x	Although this is a protected characteristic, this is not recorded. It is anticipated that Transgender or Gender Reassignment will not have an negative impact in terms of discrimination as this policy ensures that all employees should be treated in a fair, reasonable and consistent manner irrespective of this. This is also dependent on staff feeling comfortable about being open about their being Transgender or undergoing Gender Reassignment There is also a Trans and Non Binary Policy to support this. It is anticipated that the change to the appraisal form will encourage open conversations and provide an additional route for staff to raise their concerns about unfair and discriminatory practise
This will include people who are in the process of or in a care pathway changing from one gender to another Have you considered the possible needs of transgender staff and service users in the development of your proposal or service?
Human Rights	x			This policy is written to promote equality and remove any discrimination to ensure that everyone can fulfil their full potential within a Trust that is inclusive, compassionate, and committed. This is in line with our Trust values, the NHS People's Plan commitment to equality, diversity and inclusion and reflects the provisions of the Equality Act 2010. It is anticipated that the change to the appraisal form will encourage open conversations and provide an additional route for staff to raise their concerns about unfair and discriminatory practise
Affecting someone's right to Life, Dignity and Respect? Caring for other people or protecting them from danger? The detention of an individual inadvertently or placing someone in a humiliating situation or position?
If a negative or disproportionate impact has been identified in any of the key areas would this difference be illegal / unlawful? I.e. Would it be discriminatory under anti-discrimination legislation. (The Equality Act 2010, Human Rights Act 1998)
	Yes		No ✓

What do you consider the level of negative impact to be?	High Impact	Medium Impact	Low Impact	No Impact x
If the impact could be discriminatory in law, please contact the Equality and Diversity Lead immediately to determine the next course of action. If the negative impact is high a Full Equality Analysis will be required.
If you are unsure how to answer the above questions, or if you have assessed the impact as medium, please seek further guidance from the Equality and Diversity Lead before proceeding.
If the proposal does not have a negative impact or the impact is considered low, reasonable or justifiable, then please complete the rest of the form below with any required redial actions, and forward to the Equality and Diversity Lead.
Action Planning:
How could you minimise or remove any negative impact identified even if this is of low significance?
The policy and appraisal process will be reviewed regularly to monitor the areas of negative impact and appropriate action will be taken. Support processes and measures are constantly reviewed by the Learning and Development team to support staff in the completion of their appraisal and 1:1's, with staff feedback methods guiding the review process. Learning and Development will work closely with staff network groups and partners across the sector to make all reasonable adjustment required.
How will any impact or planned actions be monitored and reviewed?
Impacts are currently reviewed on a weekly basis to ensure effective monitoring and responses.
How will you promote equal opportunity and advance equality by sharing good practice to have a positive impact other people as a result of their personal protected characteristic.
Learning and Development will continue to work closely with staff network groups and partners, sharing information and lessons learnt.
Please save and keep one copy and then send a copy with a copy of the proposal to the Senior Equality and Diversity Lead at bsmhft.hr@nhs.net. The results will then be published on the Trust's website. Please ensure that any resulting actions are incorporated into Divisional or Service planning and monitored on a regular basis.

What up-to-date information or data is available about the different groups the proposal may have a negative impact on?
In the 2019/2020 staff survey it was highlighted that staff from a BAME background were less likely to access career progression based training. While this policy update hasn't significantly changed the process for staff it is more focused around the Trust values and strives to promote equality and inclusion across the organisation.
Are there any gaps in your previous or planned consultations, research or information? If so are there any other experts, groups that could be contacted to get further views or evidence?

If yes please list below
As a result of this Full Equality Analysis and consultation, what changes need to be made to the proposal? (You may wish to put this information into an action plan and attach to the proposal)

Have you established a monitoring system and review process to assess the successful implementation of the proposal? Please explain how this will be done below.

Action Planning: How could you minimise or remove any negative impact identified even if this is of low significance?
Continue to work with staff network groups and partners to resolve issues and impacts as quickly as possible and to enable staff to feel supported.
How will any impact or planned actions be monitored and reviewed?
As above
How will you promote equal opportunity and advance equality by sharing good practice to have a positive impact other people as a result of their personal protected characteristic?
Learning and Development will continue to work closely with staff network groups and partners, sharing information and lessons learnt.

Please save and keep one copy and then send a copy with a copy of the proposal to the Senior Equality and Diversity Lead at bsmhft.hr@nhs.net. The results will then be published on the Trust's website. Please ensure that any resulting actions are incorporated into Divisional or Service planning and monitored on a regular basis.

1-2-1 Form

The one-to-one process underpins the yearly BSMHFT appraisal process. Both are in place to enable all staff to have meaningful conversations about work and wellbeing matters within protected time. Good team practice involves individuals having developmental conversations routinely, this form is a tool to capture some of that detail and allow for planning any future actions. It will provide you with an opportunity to offer your perspective and gain your manager’s perspective based on feedback from observations of behaviours in line with Trust values.
